

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

EXPLANATORY.

The name "Finding-List" has been given of late to a kind of skeleton catalogue which cost of printing is diminished by the utmost possible abbreviation. The present list is of that description. Only surnames of authors are given, and titles are represented by scarcely more than such catch-words as will identify them. There is a systematic arrangement of subjects, with an index, and an alphabetical arrangement of entries under each subject. For what claims to be no more than a brief, single-entry list of books seems to be the most useful form in which it can be prepared.

The full catalogue of our library, as of most American libraries at the present date, is in cards, kept in cases of drawers, at the library rooms. In that catalogue, there are many entries for each book as seem to be necessary for the tracing of it from all possible directions of inquiry. It is entered under the full name of its author, under its subjects, if it has several, or if its subject is many-sided, and under its title, when the title is not distinctly a statement of subject. The principal entry aims to be a complete transcription of the title-page of the book, with full particulars of information as to edition, date and place of publication, size, etc. To print a catalogue of that completeness is very costly, and few libraries can afford to undertake it. Nor does it seem to be seriously demanded. For ordinary occasions of use at home a finding-list will generally suffice, and there is always recourse to the card-catalogue at the library for those who require more.

Generally, in this list, the entry of a book is under the surname of its author; but there are two exceptions. Biographies, and kindred works, closely personal in subject, are entered under the names of the persons who are the subjects. The other exception is the local history and description of England, France, and the United States, where the entry is under the names of places, in order to secure an alphabetical arrangement of those names.

It has been usual in preparing these finding-lists to omit dates of publication entirely, but the date of a book is a particular of so much importance that we have endeavored to give it as frequently as possible. In some instances—among books of travel, for example—where the time of publication is considerably later than the time to which the work relates, the latter date has seemed to be called for rather than the former, while brevity to which we are restricted does not permit us to give both, nor to mark a discrimination. The misleading that may happen in a few such cases cannot be serious.

The books whose numbers are marked with an asterisk, and which are indicated in a foot-note as being "for young readers," are generally such as have been written and published with that intention; but the mark is extended, also, to some others, which are judged to be suitable for the young.

The mark "for reference" is not designed to point out everything belonging in the category of reference-books, but only to designate those which we have placed together for common purposes of consultation, or which will be so placed when the library is removed to more commodious quarters in its new building.

Bibliographical helps on many topics have been supplied by citing under them the excellent reading-lists and reference-lists published by Mr. Foster, of the Providence Public Library, and in the Bulletins of the Boston Public Library, Harvard University, the Philadelphia Mercantile Library, and elsewhere.

The present finding-list, which embraces History, Politics, Biography, Geography, Travel, and Anthropology, covers some 17,000 vols., or about one-third of the library. It is the intention to print a second section as soon as may be, which will probably contain Poetry, Drama, Fiction, Essays and Criticism, and belles lettres generally together with Bibliography and Philology. A third section will take up the remainder of the contents of the library.

In calling for books chosen from the finding-list it will be unnecessary to give titles. The number set opposite a title designates the book just as accurately; but care must be taken to copy the number fully and correctly, as it is printed.

EXPLANATORY.

THE full explanations that were given in the preface to Part 1 of this Finding List need little repetition here.

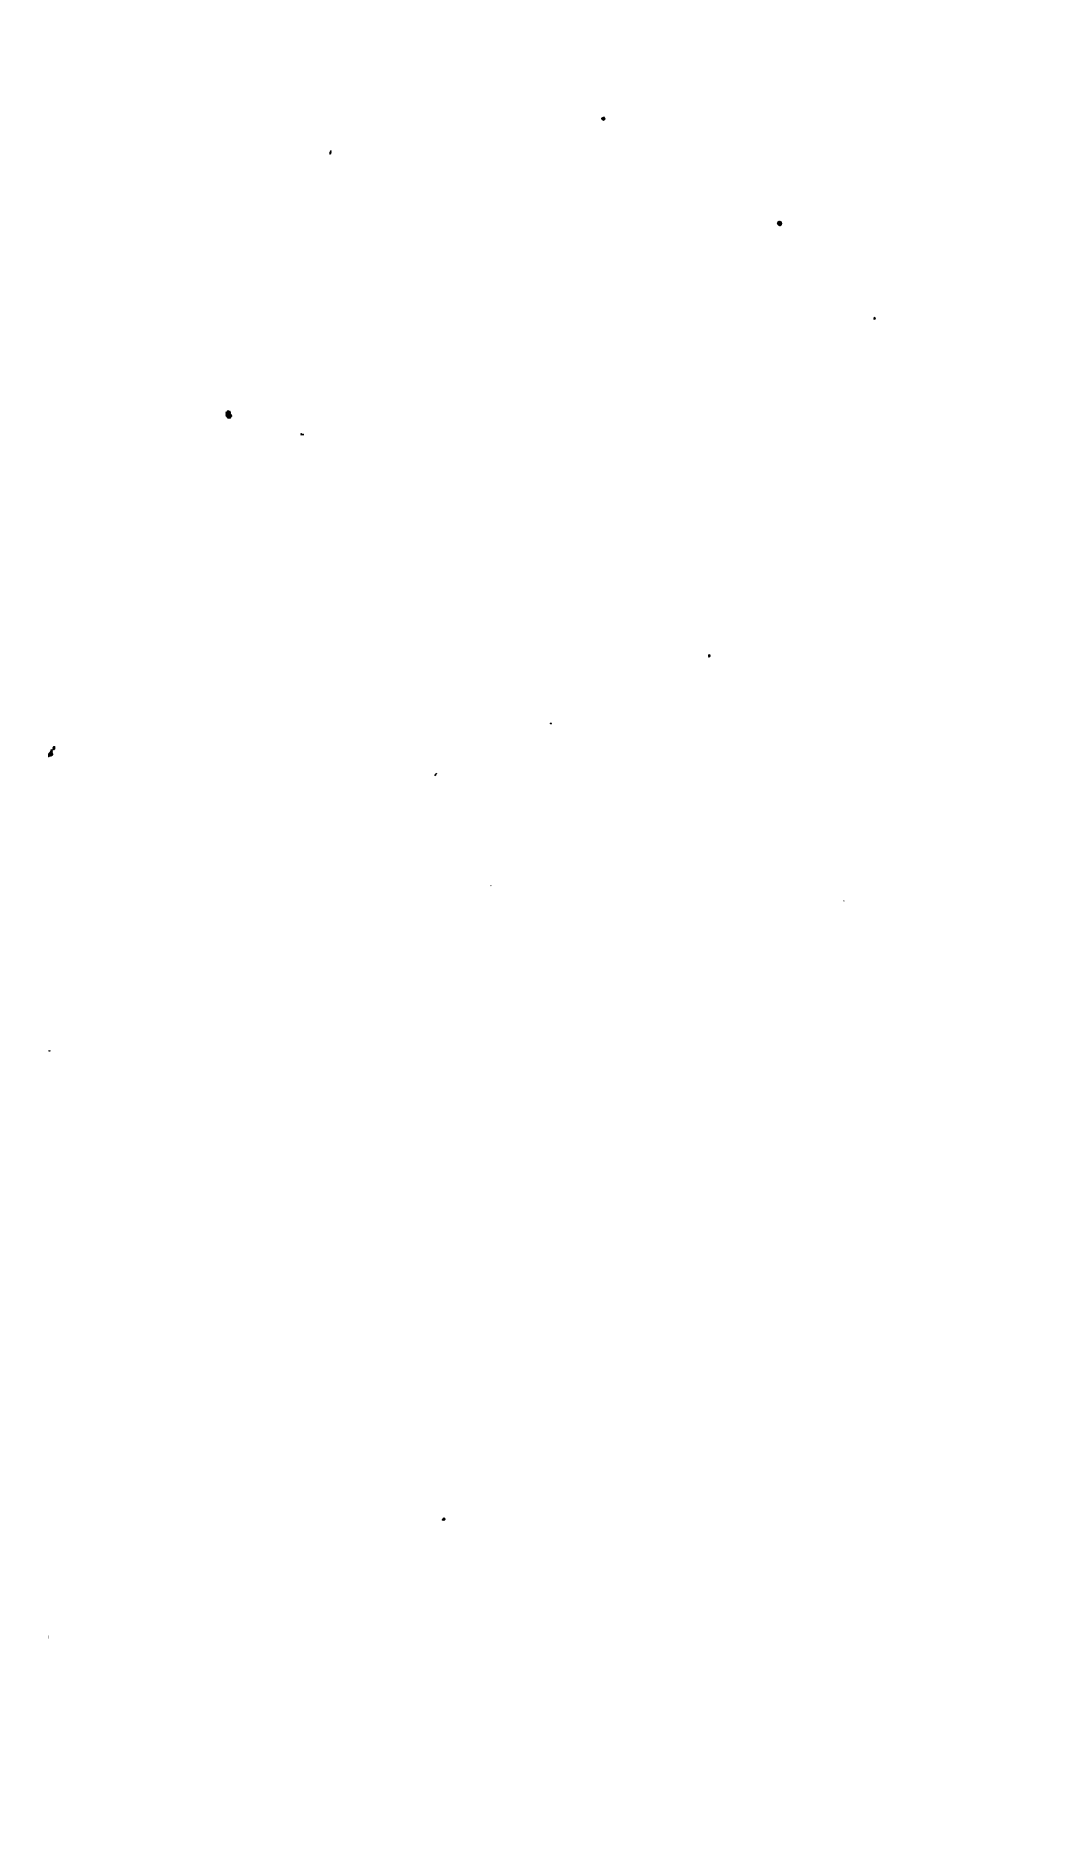

The Finding List is an abbreviated catalogue, in which books are arranged in classes and subjects, with but one entry, as a rule, for each work, which is under the surname, only, of its author, except where several authors of the same name require to be distinguished. A full index of subjects is given, preceding the List.

Part 2 of the Finding List, now published in this volume, is mainly filled in the departments of literature best described by the French term belles-lettres, embracing poetry, the drama, romance, satire, wit, humor, oratory, essays, and letters, with literary history and criticism. It also includes linguistic literature, or philology, cyclopædic works and other reference books of the comprehensive class, periodicals, so far as they are literary or general in character, bibliography, or the "book arts." Mr. Cutter's suggested grouping under the latter designation has been partly adopted, not wholly. About 22,000 volumes of books and 1,000 pamphlets are included in these several classes.

Part 3 of the Finding List, to be brought out hereafter, will cover the remainder of the library, cataloguing religion, philosophy, social science, natural science and the arts, together with local history and literature.

The mark "For reference" indicates, throughout the Finding List, such books as are placed together for common purposes of consultation in one of the reading rooms.

The numbers set opposite the titles of books are their shelf marks, which locate them so perfectly that they may be called for by these numbers as easily as by their titles.

v. 17. Systems of consanguinity and affinity of the human family; by Morgan.

v. 18. Tables and results of the precipitation, in rain and snow, in the U. S.—Memoir on the secular variations of the elements of the orbits of the 8 principal planets; by Stockwell.—Observations on terrestrial magnetism and on deviations of the compasses of U. S. iron-clad 'Monadnock'; by Harness.—Converging series expressing ratio diameter and circumference of circle; by Ferrel.

v. 19. Problems of rotary motion presented by the scope, etc.; by Barnard.—Contributions to the history of the fresh-water algæ of North Am.; by Wood.—Iterations of the orbit of Uranus; by Newcomb.

v. 20. The winds of the globe, or laws of atmospheric circulation over the surface of the earth; by Coffin.

v. 21. Statement and exposition of certain parts of the solar system; by Alexander.—General interplanetary motion; by Newcomb.—The Haidah In Queen Charlotte's Islands, British Columbia; by Tables, distribution and variations of atmospheric temperature in the U. S., etc.; by Schott.

v. 22. Explorations of the aboriginal remains of the sea; by Jones.—The sculptures of Santa Lucia Cahuapa in Guatemala; with an account of travels in Am., and on the western coast of S. Am.; by Habesarchæological collection of the U. S. National Museum charge of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.—The Palenque tablet in the U. S. National Museum, Washington; by Rau.—On the remains of later prehistoric man, from caves in the Catherina Archipelago, Alaska; by Dall.

v. 23. Introduction.—Lucernariæ and their allies in the Clark.—Geology of lower Louisiana and the salt deposits of Petite Anse Island; by Hilgard.—On the internal structure of the earth considered as affecting the phenomena of rotation and nutation, being the third of the problems of rotary motion; by Barnard.—A classification and description of the Trochilidæ; by Elliot.—Fever; a study in normal and morbid physiology; by Wood.

v. 24. Results of meteorological observations at Fort R. I., 1831-76; by Caswell.—Tables and results of observations, in rain and snow, in U. S., etc.; by Schott.

v. 25. Prehistoric fishing, Europe and N. Am.; by 1884.—Archæological researches in Nicaragua; by Ford, 1881.—Contents of a bone cave in the Island of Guilla, W. I.; by Cope. 1883.

v. 26. Researches upon the venoms of poisonous reptiles; by Mitchell and Reichert, 1886.—Genera of Arietidæ; by Hyatt, 1889.

v. 28. Life histories of North Am. birds, with reference to their breeding habits and eggs; by Bendire.

 Lects. and essays. 1879. 2v..... 504 72
 e. 1883. 2v. in 1..... 504 73A
Contents: v. 1. Introduction; Biographical; Letters, biographical.—On some of the conditions of measurement.—On theories of the physical forces.—On and instruments of scientific thought.—Atoms.—and the last catastrophe.—The unseen universe.—Philosophy of the pure sciences.
 Instruments used in measurement.—Body and in the nature of things-in-themselves.—On the compound statement involving four classes.—On the scientific basis of morals.—Right and wrong: the ground of their distinction.—Ethics of belief.—religion.—Influence upon morality of a decline in religious belief.—Cosmic emotion.—Virchow on the history of science.
 Scientific culture, etc. 1881..... 504 85
Contents: Scientific culture.—The nobility of knowledge.—Elementary teaching of physical science.—The scientific method.—Memoir of Thomas Graham.—Memoir of Robert Boyle.
 Selected works. 1839. 9v..... 504 4
Contents: v. 1. Memoirs of his life.
 Miscellaneous papers.
 Researches, chemical and philosophical, chiefly on nitrous oxide, or dephlogisticated nitrous air, and its properties.
 Elements of chemical philosophy, as regards the chemical changes, etc.
 Bakerian lectures and miscellaneous papers, 1800-1809.
 Miscellaneous papers and researches, 1815-28.
 Discourses before the Royal Society.—Elements of natural chemistry, pt. 1.
 Elements of agricultural chemistry, pt. 2.—Miscellaneous lectures.
 Salmonia.—Consolation in travel.
 Glance at the physical sciences.

 of scientific discovery. 1878..... 530 60
 Z. Popular lectures. 1873..... 504 36
Contents: On the relation of natural science to science generally.—On Goethe's scientific researches.—On the physical causes of harmony in music.—Ice and snow.—On the interaction of the natural forces.—The progress of the theory of vision.—On the conservation of energy.—On the aim and progress of physical science.
 e. 2d series. 1881..... 504 36A Contents: Gustav Magnus: In memoriam.—On the origin and significance of geometrical axioms.—On the relation of optics to painting.—On the origin of the planetary system.—On thought in medicine.—On academic freedom in German universities.

 HERSCHELL. Familiar lectures. 1867..... 504 33
Contents: About volcanos and earthquakes.—The sun.—On comets.—The weather and weather prophets.—Celestial measurements and weighings.—On light.—On sensorial vision.—The yard, the pendulum, and the metre.—On atoms.—On the origin of force.—On the absorption of light by coloured media viewed in connexion with the undulatory theory.—On the estimation of skill in target-shooting.

 PLAYFAIR. Works. 1822. 4v..... 504 13
Contents: v. 1. Biographical memoir.—Illustrations of the Huttonian theory of the earth.
 v. 2. Dissertation: general view of progress of mathematical and physical science since the revival of letters in Europe.
 v. 3. Arithmetic of impossible quantities.—Causes which affect the accuracy of barometrical measurements.—Astronomy of the Brahmans.—Origin and investigation of porisms.—Trigonometrical tables of the Brahmans.—Theorems relating to the figure of the earth.—The solids of greatest attraction.—The progress of heat in spherical bodies.—Account of a lithological survey of Schehallien.—Naval tactics of the late John Clerk, Esq., of Eldin.
 v. 4. Biog. of Matthew Stewart.—Biog. of Jas. Hutton.—Biog. of John Robison.—Review of Mudge's acct. of the trigonometrical survey of England.—Review of Mechain et Delambre Base du système métrique décimal.—Review of Laplace, Traité de mécanique céleste.—Review of Le Compte rendu par l'Institut de France.—Review of Lambton's measurement of an arch of the meridian.—Review of Laplace, Essai philosophique sur les probabilités.—Review of Baron De Zach, Attraction des montagnes.—Review of Kater on the pendulum.
 PROCTOR. Rough ways made smooth. '80... 504 81
Contents: The sun's corona and his spots.—Sun-spots and commercial panics.—New planets near the sun.—Results of the British transit expeditions.—The past history of our moon.—A new crater in the moon.—The November meteors.—Expected meteor shower.—Cold winters.—Oxford and Cambridge rowing.—Rowing styles.—Artificial somnambulism.—Hereditary traits.—Bodily illness as a mental stimulant.—Dual consciousness.—Electric lighting.—Great storms.—Recent storms.—Mechanical chess-players.—Influence of the mind on the body.
